- "India should complement capacity-building initiatives with a framework to accelerate commercialisation, such as involving startups in future national programmes through commercial agreements."- Pawan Kumar Chandana, CEO, Skyroot Aerospace

Government Polytechnic for Girls, Ahmedabad (GPGA), established in 1954, is one of the pioneer institutes in Diploma Engineering Education for Girls in the state of Gujarat. The institute offers 3 years diploma programmes in 8 different branches. All these programmes are varied with diploma engineering education offered in both core engineering and design. Core engineering programmes are Civil Engineering and Electronics & Communication (EC). There are two design oriented programmes in the form of Architecture and Computer Aided Costume Design & Dress Making (CACDDM).

This is only Government Girls Polytechnic institute in Gujarat which offers both these 3 year design programmes. Over the years, as per needs of both industry and society, several new diploma engineering programmes like Computer, Information Technology (IT) and Biomedical, are being offered at the institute. Information and Communication Technology (ICT) is the latest addition to all the existing programmes. Hence GPGA continues to offer quality education for Girls in diploma engineering in diverse fields. It remains the most sought after one for admissions by meritorious girl-students of our state.

Apart from offering quality education, faculties and students of GPGA have been involved with creation of innovative ideas. The institute has a well-established government funded Student's Startup Innovation Policy (SSIP) Cell within its premises. Under SSIP Cell, the student innovators are made familiar with Project Based Learning Method, Peer Learning and several interactive methods in collaboration with industries for awareness about latest technology. These innovators who are from multidisciplinary backgrounds, are continuously guided for Proof of Concepts and Prototype Development. The importance of such institute-level initiatives is manifold as startups are also getting a boost from government backed initiatives, which are scoring a win for India at the global stage with the recent docking of satellites as part of its Space Docking Experiment (SpaDex) by ISRO. Government funds have been utilized under SSIP 2.0 for IPs and Sensitization activities. Thus, there exists a unique culture of innovation, research, entrepreneurship and startup amongst students at GPGA under the SSIP Cell.

In the year 2024, with the help of Alumni support, a common computer lab equipped with 40 high-end computer systems has been setup. Apart from academics, students and staff have been actively participating in various co-curricular and extra-curricular activities in the campus. Cultural events like GOPIRAS - Garba Celebration are an annual feature at our Girls' institute with both staff and students participating earnestly. NSS Unit of the institute organized an event named 'Ink and Imagination' to allow students to paint graffiti in an allotted space on the outer wall of the college. With participation of 23 teams, themes explored included Womens' Day, Heritage, Nature, Gender Equality and Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam. Other events like Sports Day, Yoga Day and Mother Language Day were celebrated in the campus.

In future, the pressing issue of climate change demands immediate attention and action from educational institutions worldwide and our institute can play a pivotal role in shaping the minds of future leaders and change-makers. To cater to industrial demands, we also need to integrate Artificial Intelligence (AI) with academics for students. We, as academicians, need to overcome implementation challenges like Limited Digital Literacy, Complexity of AI Topics, Resource Constraints, Trainer Preparedness and Curriculum Adaptability. Foundational AI skills along with skills like logical reasoning and critical thinking, will help our students improve their employability. Within an inclusive learning environment, we need to prepare our students for their future by imparting necessary skills in Emerging Technologies such as Robotics and Blockchain. By teaching students to challenge conventional wisdom, spark creative thinking, and develop unique, data-driven strategies based AI outputs, we as academicians can empower our students to become discerning thinkers. This will enable our students to make a tangible impact in their future workplaces with fresh insights.

For achieving all its future goals, GPGA has all the necessary ingredients in place as it has highly qualified, self-motivated and knowledgeable faculty members in all departments who apart from expediting routine teaching-learning activities, are mentors to student innovators and startups too. Our institute has been consistently excelling both in academics as well as innovation too, while intellectual growth continues to thrive amongst girl students here.

I extend my best wishes to all GPGA staff members and students for all their endeavours in this academic year. I also extend my wholehearted support to all staff members and girl-students of GPGA in all their endeavours to continue to achieve excellence in education, innovation as well as extra and co-curricular activities. There's no deadline to learning and I am sure we as an institute, shall continue to inculcate the values of Lifelong Learning amongst one and all.

As always, I express my sincere gratitude to all our stakeholders for their continued support, cooperation and active involvement to make GPGA, an institute of eminence for Girls, in near future.

“Upskill a woman, and you upskill a whole generation....”

- Yours truly

JAI HIND....
